About John Colon:

Now a Senior Vice President at Wells Fargo Advisors, John Colon began his career on Wall Street working as a night shift courier. As he was delivering packages between banks and brokers, John decided to become a broker himself. He entered a training program that required a commitment of 12 hours per day, plus Saturday work, in order to learn.

Strong work ethic. Individual accountability. Encouragement of the entrepreneurial spirit. These are the foundational character traits that led to John's success and the same principles that motivate him today as he runs for public office.

John's desire to serve Manatee County as one of our Commissioners is a natural extension of his active involvement in our community and various civic organizations. From the Boy Scouts of America to the UNCF, John's volunteer work has been selfless.
